SCOTT M. ZAHNISER...

...has called Brunswick his home for the past 2 decades. He is the proud father of two young men, ages 19 and 20. It was through the introduction from his girlfriend and her family that he found his way back to church. From the moment that he attended his first service at Royal Redeemer, he felt an instant connection. Although he was raised Catholic, he had drifted away from the church and felt spiritually lost. However, his journey led him to RRLC where he discovered a profound and meaningful connection to Christ which surpassed any previous experiences in his Catholic upbringing. The Lutheran church has reignited his faith in God and Jesus and he eagerly anticipates the contemporary Sunday service like never before. He is excited about continuing to deepen his faith at Royal Redeemer. In Scott's spare time, he enjoys staying active by working out and mountain biking. He finds joy in playing the drums and embracing the open road on his Harley.
